PRIVACY POLICY

New Wine collects personal information from you which may include:

- your name
- your age (or age range)
- your contact information
- health and mobility information
- the church you attend (if any)
- NZ Police Vetting Service or Ministry of Justice forms
- financial payments, banking, and donations
- media

We collect your personal information in order to do one or more of the following things:

- communicate with you
- to register you for an event
- issue a donation tax receipt or make payments to you
- security checks such as Police Vetting for team applications
- comply with Government requirements
- to ensure we have mitigated, as far as reasonably possible, risks to your health needs and personal safety
- inform you about New Wine

We keep your information safe by retaining it within the software programmes New Wine utilises and only allowing staff and approved volunteers or contractors to access the programmes for specific purposes.

You have the right to ask for a copy of any personal information we hold about you, and to ask for it to be corrected if you think it is wrong. If you'd like to ask for a copy of your information, or to have it corrected, please contact us at admin@newwine.org.nz.

Cookies
Cookies are small pieces of information that can be stored on your hard drive or device memory. Cookies help New Wine understand which parts of our website are most popular, where our visitors are going, and how long they spend there in order to make our website more useful and interesting for you.

New Wine uses session cookies, which are removed from your device once you leave our website. These are used to determine compatibility and remember that you have logged in for the duration of your session. When you log out or close your browser the session, these cookies are deleted.

New Wine also uses persistent cookies to personalise the user experience and for tracking traffic patterns to and from the websites.

Website tracking and measurement
New Wine uses third party website trackers, to collect information on how you use our website. The services are used to aggregate website statistics anonymously, such as number of page views, the number of unique visitors, time spent on our site, and to determine advertising effectiveness.
